

Judo 6-Class Pass FAQ

What does the Judo pass include?

Each Judo pass includes 6 classes. This is a punch-card style system and is not a monthly membership.

How does the 6-class pass work?

Each participant receives 6 class visits with their pass. One visit is used each time they attend class. Once all 6 visits have been used, a new 6-class pass must be purchased to continue participating.

When does the pass expire?

Each 6-class pass is valid for 1 year from the date of purchase. Any unused classes remaining after the expiration date will no longer be valid.

How much does a 6-class pass cost?

An Individual 6-Class Pass is $20 per participant.

A Family 6-Class Pass is $30 for the first two children, with each additional child added for $5.

What ages are eligible?

Kids' Judo is for participants ages 5–12.

Teen/Adult Judo is for participants ages 13 and older.

Is this a monthly fee?

No. There are no monthly recurring charges. Participants purchase 6 classes at a time and purchase another pass when those 6 visits have been used or the pass expires.

Pricing Examples

Example 1: One adult

1 adult × $20 = $20 total for 6 classes.

Example 2: Two children

The Family 6-Class Pass covers the first two children for $30 total.

Each child receives 6 classes.

Example 3: Three children

Family Pass for the first two children: $30

Additional child: $5

Total: $35 for 6 classes per child.

Example 4: Two adults + two children

For example, if you and your spouse would both like to participate along with your two children:

Adult 1: $20

Adult 2: $20

Two children Family Pass: $30

Total: $70 for all four participants to receive 6 classes each.

What happens after I purchase a pass?

Once payment is complete, the instructor will contact the participant or parent/guardian to confirm enrollment and provide onboarding information, scheduling details, class expectations, and any additional instructions needed before attending.

What happens after all 6 classes are used?

Simply purchase another 6-class pass to continue participating.
